THE MARKETS

Stocks Higher, Although Business Was on a Moderate Scale.

Railway Bonds Were Irregular, With a Pressure to Sell.

NEW YORK, June 7.- There was a strong and higher market for stocks to-day, although business was on a more moderate scale than for any previous day of the week. The condition of the New York associated banks, as reflected in their weekly exhibits, is favorable and led to purchases for the leng account. The further declaration of regular dividends by prominent railroad companies had a good effect on speculation and stimulated the upward movement. In the afternoon the Vanderbilts were weak which caused a decline in the general list. At the opening the entire list was higher except for Louisville and Nashville, which fell off 18 to 2D. In the first hour and a half of business there was an advance of \(\frac{1}{2} to 22 \) per cent., Missouri l'actio, as usual of late, being the strongest stock, and seconded the greatest advance, with sales up to 87\(\frac{1}{2} \), Louisville and Nashville rose 2\(\frac{1}{2} \) to 103\(\frac{1}{2} \). Union Pacific, 1\(\frac{1}{2} \) to 103\(\frac{1}{2} \). Union Pacific, 1\(\frac{1}{2} \) to 103\(\frac{1}{2} \). Union Pacific, 1\(\frac{1}{2} \) to 103\(\frac{1}{2} \). Now York Central, 1\(\frac{1}{2} \) to 103\(\frac{1}{2} \). Northwest, 1\(\frac{1}{2} \) to 103\(\frac{1}{2} \). Western Union, 1\(\frac{1}{2} \) to 61\(\frac{1}{2} \). Oregon Transcontinental, 1\(\frac{1}{2} \) to 10, and the remainder of the list\(\frac{1}{2} \) to 1\(\frac{1}{2} \) per cent., but when the bank statement was issued the market became stronger gain. Near the close there was a rally of \(\frac{1}{2} \) to \(\frac{1}{2} \) per cent. In the final trading Louisville and Nashville weakened falling off to 20\(\frac{1}{2} \), and the market left off irregular. The Vanderbilt stocks at the close were raided on two rumors about New York Contral, one that the company intended to issue stock, and another that the company intended to issue stock, and central depot. Railway bonds were irregular, with a pressure to sell West Shore bonds at the close. These bonds opened at 41\(\frac{1}{2} \) and fell off to 40\(\frac{1}{2} \) to 20\(\frac{1}{2} \). of business there was an advance of 4 to 27

SATURDAY'S BEVIEW. It is stated that all payments on Louisville and Nashville have been provided for. D. P. Morgan predicts higher prices. Wearishooffer and Smith were large sellers of Union Pacific on sixty day options. The selling of Lake Shore is believed to have been for foreign accounts.

Early in the morning the market was bid up nearly 1 per cent, by the Gould-Morgan-White following. At 10:15 the list was strong with a firm undertone. London houses are selling Lewisville and Nashville, and buying the Vanderbilts and Union Pacific.

Sales of stocks to-day aggregated 261,946 shares, including the following: Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western, 34,619; Lako Shore, 12,950; Louisville and Nashville, 22,500; Missouri Pacific, 24,625; Northwest, 9,870; New York Central, 20,031; St. Paul, 25,304; Union Pacific, 41,005; Western Union, 26,020; Northern Pacific preferred, 400.

THE WEEK.

During the past week there have been evi-During the mast week there have been evidences of a further improvement in the general tone of the financial situation. One element which helped to restore confidence was that on Saturday of the previous week the New York banks published their usual detailed statement of the condition of each of the banks in the Clearing House association. There have been no further bank troubles in any part of the country, except a disposition on the part of savings' depositors in Washington to withdraw their money. But there have been a number of disturbing features connected with railroad properties.

The Philadelphia and Reading has passed into the hands of a receiver. Texas and Pacific did not meet its interest payment on the Eastern Division consols, but had the Mercantile Trust company buy them instead.

Mercantile Trust company buy them instead, There have also been renewed disquieting reports about losses incurred by the Louisvillo and Nashville through the operations of its late president, but these reports, though they had a bad effect on the price of the stock, have been denied. There has been no change in the general condition of trade and industry throughout the country during the past week. The iron and authracite coal interests remain de-pressed, but this is partly due to the competi-tion of bituminous coal and to the increase in the producing canacity of the authracite mines. During the latter part of the week the stock market improved a little. The Gould specialties—Missouri Pacific and Western Union-show advances of 8 and 21 per mt, respectively, while the grangers gener-ly show advances of from 1 to 2 per cent. Union Pacific has been notably strong, and is it higher than a week ago.

Louisville and Nashville and the Vander-bilt trunk lines have been weak and lower.
The business in railroad bonds increased during the week, but there was a declining during the week, but there was a declining range of prices for the majority of the speculative issues. The better class of investment bonds have been dull and quite steady.

The West Shores were lower from the fact that no progress has been made toward a fluancial policy for the relief of the company. Many of the other speculative bonds were depressed by the difficulty of using them as collaterals for loans.

depressed by the difficulty of using them as collaterals for loans.
Government bends have been quite active, but show only fractional changes.

The New York money market continues very quiet. The field for employment of money on collaterals of railway stocks has been so diminished by the shrinkage in value of the stocks and the much more conservative policy of the banks that rates for call loans have been quoted at from 1½ to 4 per cent, during the week.

The market for sterling exchange has been considerably unsettled owing to the movement.

The Campaign of 1860.

A merchant in this city has been exhibiting in his store windows some well-preserved cartoons of 1830. The greater number, perhaps, are attempts, more or less successful, at ridicaling the principles and leaders of the republican party; and several were produced. after the nomination of the rail-splitter. The people who stopped in passing, to look at the pictures, could not but see that those relies tell against the democratic party. Much that was good wit once can hardly be appreciated now, the events of the twenty-four years have been so different from what the artists could have forescen. If the elever mon who were caricaturing Abraham Lincoin could have looked ahead five years their fingers would have been paralyzed and the puncils would have been paralyzed and the puncils would have fallen from their cluric, One cut portrayed the republican leaders and agitators entering a mad-house; and at that day the enthnainstic party rased up to break the chains of bondmen and remite the fragments of the state did seem to many who lacked that insight which faith and courage confer, and which is oftsu better than political sugacity, a host of heretics and lenatics. The party has apparently reached a less hereis stage; but important history is sometimes made in very quiet fashion. Much that was good wit once can hardly be

THE FAITH CURE IN COURT.

A Minister Forced to Substitute Physicians for Prayers.

New York Times, June 6. The Rev. Clement T. Blanchett is an Episcopal minister who cannot be accused of not practicing what he preaches. He is a firm believer in the faith cure, and tested it upon his 6-year-old daughter until the Society for believer in the faith cure, and tested it upon his 6-year-old daughter until the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children interfered in the child's behalf. He has been for years a missionary in Tokio, Japan, having been appointed from the Illinois diocese. His first knowledge of the faith cure was acquired from accounts in the newspapers of cures effected by the Rev. Mr. Sloan, of Stratford, Coun. Mrs. Blanchett, he says, had been an invalid for years from a nervous disorder, one of the symptoms of which was a burning sensation and pain in the soles of her feet. He wrote to Mr. Sloan, and finally, on April 23, Mrs. Blanchett concluded that she would submit herself to the treatment. She did so, and was anointed and prayed over by Mr. Sloan, The Blanchetts say that her disease had resisted the best medical treatment, but succumbed to the faith cure. Pains left her, to return at intervals of a few days, and at hast ceared altogether.

The couple are now boarding at No. 47 West Thirty-lifth street, Mr. Blanchett being at present on a vacation. He attended the missionary conference in May, and returned on the 12th of that month to find that his 6-year-old daughter, Annie Van Ness Blanchett, was suffering from a fracture of the left arm, caused by a playmate letting her fall. His cuise had concluded to try the faith cure, and he concurred with her, and refused to summon a physician. Other boarders in the home learned of the accident, and tried to persuade the parents to have the child attended by a surgeon, but Mr. Blanchett remained firm, and politely declined to do so. He says the child's arm progressed fluely, and she was gradually recovering the use of it, and would have been cured had no one interfered. Recently he visited Geneva and Potadam, N. Y., and returned on Tuesday last. He found two letters awaiting him, one from Assistant Rishop Potter, who had been informed of the child's condition and treatment.

what he would do. The letter hoped that his decision would prove favorable, and thus avert impleasant consequences.

Mr. Blanchett called on Assistant Bishop Potter and summoned a physician, but before he arrived Agent Wilson, of the society, paid the missionary a visit, and served a summons for him to appear in the Yorkville court. When he learned that a surgeon had been sent for Mr. Wilson said he would call again, and did so in the evening. Meantime, Dr Gifford for Mr. Wilson said he would call again, and did so in the evening. Meantime, Dr Gifford came, and Dr. J. C. A. Jersey, of the New York hospital, was also called in. He found the child suffering from what is known as a green stick fracture of the radius ulma of the right forearm. She was improving and used the injured member, but the rotary motion of the arm was being interfered with. The destray receit, and vestorlay when the The doctors reset it, and yesterday when the father appeared in court he was armed with a certificate that the child was being properly cared for, and Justice Murray dismissed the

A HELPFUL LOAN. Dumas's lugentous Device for Collaring Some Needed Wealth.

So as to satisfy Alexandre Dumas, Monsicur Dartois, proprietor of the Variety theater, agreed to pay him a royalty of 2,000 francs after the thirtieth representation of "Kean," providing the total receipts amounted to 60,000 francs. "If there is ever so little less," said Darteis, "no royalty; but if there are 60,000 francs, the 2,000 francs will be handed to you at the end of the per-formance on the 20th of September." On the evening before the 29th, 2,867 francs were taken, and the sum total for the twenty-nine performances reached 57,000 francs. So Dumas presented himself befor Datrois with Domas presented himself befor Datrois with very confident expectations, at 9 o'clock on the evening stipulated. He already saw his 2,000 franes in imagination. As luck would have it only 1,004 francs had been taken that evening, which, added to 57,000 francs, gave a total of only 59,963 francs. The royalty was lost by accen francs. "You know our agreement," said Datrois, "a sou less, and the royalty lapses? I am very serry, my dear Dumas, but so it is." "Bah," replied Dumas. "Two thousand francs lost that's all. The only thing which inconveniences me," he continued, "is that I counted upon these 2,000 francs, and counting upon them, I have continued, "is that I counted upon these 2,000 francs, and counting upon them, I have just lent all the money I had in my pocket to a friend." "Do not let that incommade you," interrupted Dartois, "Shall I advance you some money?" "I will take advantage of your offer." "How much will you have?" "Twenty francs only." Dartois drew from his purse four five-franc pieces and gave them to the author of "Kean." Five minutes after some one took three orchestra stalls at after some one took three orchestra stalls at the pay-box of the Variety, and the amount of 60,000 frames was exceeded by five frames. It was Dumas, who, with Dartois's money, had augmented the receipts of the evening.

The bride made her promises in the usual manner, and the groom did his part thus: "Having first embraced Uranis with his arms, he took her by the hand and put the nuptial ring on her finger. He then had his right hand significantly upon his heart, and afterward, putting their paims together, extended both his hands to heaven. Having thus sued for the Divine blessing, he declared his purpose to dwell with Urania till death should separate them, by closing his eyelids with his fingers, digging the earth with his feet, as though he wished to make a hole in the ground, and then moving his arms and his body as though he were tolling a funeral bell."
